

iconic university buildings

key drivers to successfully creating a truly talked about building.

RIBA HEDQF, in association with Buro Four, invite you to attend their next debate exploring the benefits of iconic buildings in the Higher Education sector.

Tuesday 25 November, 6pm for 6.30pm start location

Grimshaw
Lower ground atrium
57 Clerkenwell Road
London EC1M 5NG

speakers

Ingrid Bille, Partner, Grimshaw

Bill Hunt, Project Director, Queen Mary University of London

Paul Kalkhoven, Senior Partner, Foster + Partners

Steve Howe, Director of Building Projects, Imperial College London

Patrick Watson, Operational Director, Buro Four

chair

Matthew Reisz, The Times Higher Education Supplement programme

6.30 - 7.45pm

Does an iconic building drive the success of a University?

Do all Universities need an iconic building to raise their profile amongst the top faculty and students or are icons just a show off?

Does focusing on functionality dilute the impact of iconic buildings?

Discuss.

7.45 - 9pm

Drinks and networking

If you can attend, please reply to Bernadette Swain at bswain@burofour.co.uk by 21 November with your name and company details.