

GREEN MATERIALS

Venue: SmartLIFE Centre, Cambridge

Date: Thursday 3 December 2009, 1.15 pm - 5.00 pm

How sustainable and low carbon are the materials you select for construction? Can you rely on manufacturers claims for their products? How do we make correct informed judgement? These questions are constantly before building professionals seeking to meet new codes and standards.

Howard Liddell will follow up his recent presentation to CPD RIBA East on Ecominimalism in February of this year with a focused seminar on Construction and Green Materials. The afternoon will include:

An introduction to Green Materials and why they are important

- The key issues
- Problems and opportunities with modern building materials
- The various categories
- Ways of selecting and eco-labelling systems
- Evaluating embodied energy

Case Studies

- Information about indoor climate and the impact of materials within it.
- Use of unconventional materials and why they have a contribution to make.

Workshop

Valuation and discussion of jobs currently on the drawing board – delegates are asked to please bring along material that they may wish to explore.

Speaker: Howard Liddell, Gaia Architects

Fee: RIBA/CIAT Members £62 + VAT Non-RIBA £75 + VAT
 Reduced Fee £46.50 + VAT applicable only to CPD Subscription members

This event qualifies for 3.5 hours CPD (up to 28 points) - certificates of attendance will be issued.
