

RIBA London Core Curriculum CPD 2010

After evaluating your feedback from 2009, we have endeavoured to offer you a programme that supports and keeps you up-to-date with key areas of benchmarking, regulatory, legislative, and practice concern.

Please see overleaf for booking details and contact: jessame.cronin@inst.riba.org
T: 0207 307 5352 with any queries.

Public Space safety: Counter- terrorism, planning and central government policy

By Peter Heath, Associate Director, Atkins Public Realm; Carl Whitley Jones, Metropolitan Police Officer, National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTSO) and Darius Aibara, Associate Director, TPS Security Consulting
Monday March 22 16.00 - 19.00

This seminar will provide an overview of practical steps needed for integrated security in the design process. Subjects will include the scope of NaCTSO, Argus Professional and counter terrorism security at the concept design stage and an update on the Safer Places Counter Terrorism supplement.

Office Management in small practices

By Kate Marks, Director, Evolution HR
Monday 19 April 16.00 - 19.00

This seminar is aimed at architects working in or directing small practices. Kate Marks will provide a comprehensive overview, putting HR and office management systems in context for small practices including laws affecting employment. Her seminar will look at the vital elements that will ensure the smooth running of your office in 2010. Kate's career has been spent with companies working in the built environment, including 20 years with architecture and design practices. Evolution HR was founded in 2003 to focus specifically upon small businesses within the architecture sector.

Introduction to Construction Design and Management Regulations (CDM)

By Alan Russell, Butler and Young
Monday 17 May 16:00 to 19:00

This seminar goes back to the basics of the CDM Regulations and is aimed at remedying some of the misinterpretations that have grown in time since the Regulations were first introduced. The seminar is aimed specifically at designers and includes not just what "designers" should be aware of, but the duties of others identified in the Regulations and how the designer can benefit from the interaction of CDM.

Updated Building Regulations Part L + F

By David Ross, Regional Director, Sustainability - Building Engineering and Ant Wilson, Director, AECOM
Monday June 7 16.00 to 19.00

The seminar will look at key 2010 changes to the regulations and technical guidance for Part L (Conservation of Fuel and Power) and Part F (Means of Ventilation). This will cover both dwellings and non-dwellings, existing buildings and new build. It will include details of new regulatory requirements, improvements in fabric and building services performance, and changes to commissioning and the provision of operational information.

Communication and Interpersonal skills

By Caroline Mann, Coaching and Training
Tuesday 13 July 16:00 to 19:00

Effective communication is more than the just the words you use. Learn more about how to fully engage with clients, colleagues and consultants. Learn how to build rapport easily; a skill which is the foundation of true communication. Simple changes to the words you use can transform your interaction with others and ensure that you inspire, motivate and lead. Caroline Mann is a highly experienced trainer who will lead you through some simple, yet highly effective, tools and strategies to re-energise your communication and interpersonal skills.

Sustainability and Procurement. The role of the architect in effective decision making

By Dr Paul Toyne, Head of Sustainability, Bovis Lend Lease and Joanna Eley, Alexi Marmot Associates
Monday 27 September 16:00 to 19:00

The seminar will explore existing certification schemes for the responsible sourcing of construction products and make reference to existing green building rating tools. Using case studies and an overview of future and potential future requirements, this seminar is aimed at those wishing to better understand how design-led decisions influence material specification and procurement. Dr Paul Toyne has led a programme of responsible sourcing of materials for Bovis Lend Lease as part of their overall approach to sustainability. The second part of the seminar will include an overview from Joanna Eley, author of the forthcoming sustainability guide for RIBA Publications that focuses on information needed to create a brief that will deliver a sustainable outcome for clients.

Construction Design and Management Regulations (CDM) ADVANCED

By Alan Russell, Director, Butler and Young
Monday 11 October 16:00 to 19:00

Using case studies, this seminar is aimed at those with an understanding of the Regulations, and how design led decisions can be made without compromising the vision. The case studies show where basic designs, not exclusive to architectural design can go wrong and how remedial measures can be implemented at an early stage. The seminar will also show where other legislation may have a part in how the "finished" design can be influenced and will include elements such as the Regulatory Reform (Fire) Order (RRO), amongst others.

Appointment agreements/ Negotiating fees and risk management

By Caroline Cole, Director Colander and Adrian Dobson, RIBA Director of Practice
Monday 15 November 16:00 to 19:00

The first part of this seminar will consider the issues you need to address in negotiating your appointments and fee agreements. Subjects will include getting the right fee, demonstrating how your service adds value for your client, why you need a comprehensive appointment agreement, avoiding unnecessary liability exposure, and strategies for getting paid and maintaining cashflow. The second part will explore how benchmarking can help to balance professional creativity with improving profitability, and will look at the RIBA's benchmark initiative, which is free to all Chartered Practices.

Each seminar is worth 3 hours of CPD and meets the requirements for the RIBA Core Curriculum. Each seminar is priced at £55 + VAT (£63.25 total).

All seminars take place at
The Building Centre
Store Street London
WC1E 7BT

www.buildingcentre.co.uk

