Best practice guidance on aspects of Construction Law

This seminar is designed to deal with architects' rights and duties - the lawyers speak.

The session will include the following topics and give ample time for questions and answers:

- Due diligence
- Duties to clients
- Duties owed by the architect to the contractor and to third parties
- Architects' intellectual property rights
- Fees - Getting paid
- Architects acting as expert witnesses

The seminar covers several aspects of the RIBA Core Curriculum including 'Practice Management' and 'Managing projects'. Attend this seminar and raise your general awareness to the issues and gather lots of detailed knowledge.

Speakers: Robert J D Stevenson BSC (Hons) FCI Arb.

Robert is a Solicitor, Chartered Arbitrator and partner in Berryman's Lace Mawer Construction Division. He acts for clients across the construction industry including contractors, architects, engineers, insurers and employers representing them in High Court proceedings when required. Robert instigated the setting up of the RIBA helpline and is an adviser on its Legal Panel. He also publishes material and speaks at international conferences.
