New Building in an Historic Setting

RIBA South invites you to submit entries for the Conservation Award 2008. The category for this year's Award is New Building in an Historic Setting.

The Award Scheme continues, following a four-yearly rotation which started in 2001.

RIBA members are invited to submit projects at the time of completion for any of the four categories, though only one category will be judged per year.

The Awards are open to any architect who has completed a conservation project within the RIBA South region, which covers Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, Hampshire, Isle of Wight and Oxfordshire.

The intention is to reward excellence in a conservation work and to set out the winning project as an example to others. Therefore the work nominated should demonstrate adherence to well-established principles of conservation repair.

RIBA South Conservation Award winners will receive their awards at a celebratory evening in October 2008.

The deadline for 2008 entries is 27 June 2008.

There are few bounds to the potential subjects but the submission for the award must be a completed research project, not the life-time achievement of an individual or practice. Entry for the award is restricted to RIBA members and RIBA Chartered Practices. Interdisciplinary collaborative projects are encouraged but the research entered must be under the intellectual and financial control of an RIBA member/Chartered Practice.

The deadline for submissions is 16 June 2008.

NEWS & EVENTS

ARCHITECT IN THE HOUSE 2008

One in seven children in Britain lives in rundown, damp or overcrowded housing. Shelter, the housing and homelessness charity, provides services to support them, and fights to improve their education, health and wellbeing.

You can help Shelter through Architect in the House. By offering consultations to homeowners in return for their donation to Shelter, you'll be helping someone improve their home – and helping Shelter improve the state of housing for the next generation. And the feedback is that many practices find the scheme leads to future commissions.

Over the past 12 years, RIBA chartered members have raised more than £700,000 for Shelter. We want this year to be the best yet, so please register from 1 May 2008. Thank you very much for your support.

The Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA) and London Metropolitan University (London Met) are piloting a new course, 12 – 16 May 2008 in London. This week long course is specifically designed to meet the needs of the students, particularly focusing on boosting their confidence and improving their technical knowledge, enabling them to successfully re-enter the profession. This course is open to any qualified architect - women or men - who have been away or who might otherwise benefit from a refresher.

Contact Anne Markey for more information about the course on 020 7133 2716 or email a.markey@londonmet.ac.uk To download a booking form for the course, visit: www.londonmet.ac.uk/architecture/departments/asd-projects/

INCLUSIVE DESIGN CONFERENCE

Thursday 15 May 2008, The Roundhouse, London

The Civic Trust, in association with the RIBA is delighted to invite bookings for an Inclusive Design Conference.

Legislation now requires those who own, design and manage buildings or spaces to pay greater attention to how accessible and inclusive they are. Inclusive design is about much more than addressing the needs of disabled people. It is about providing and managing environments so that everyone can use them safely, easily, with dignity, and feel confident and comfortable when doing so.

This event and its content have been designated as being part of the RIBA CPD Core Curriculum.

The conference has been developed and will be delivered by Prof. Keith Bright, who is a registered Access Consultant (NRAC), a member of the RICS Inclusive Environments Consultant Scheme (IEC), a member of CABE's Inclusive Environments Group and the Building Regulation Advisory Committee (BRAC).

RIBA's THINK TANK INTRODUCES ARCHITECTS TO THE FUTURE

15 May 2008 Futures Fair: day conference (9.30am) and evening lecture (6.30pm) at the RIBA, 66 Portland Place, London W1

- In a time of economic uncertainty, how can we as professionals equip ourselves for unseen global events?
- Globally, are places like Dubai already the ultimate in retail-leisure destination?
- Who will actually be living in the 'cities in the future'?

The role of the construction industry is to build for the future, as well as the present, but the professionals involved are often short of reliable data about how emerging generations might live. The RIBA's think tank, Building Futures, is holding a fast-paced day of ideas and interaction, bringing together architects, designers and construction professionals to investigate the role of architecture over coming years.
