

1. Knowledge and Understanding

- A deeper understanding of the variety and diversity of people's experiences of war, and of the impact on their lives
- An understanding of the impact and legacy of conflict, from the Second World War to the present, on local and national identity and contemporary society
- Knowledge and understanding of the issues of remembrance and commemoration, national identity and global citizenship, reconstruction and reconciliation, asylum and refugees
- Increased knowledge and understanding of the veterans' community and their contribution and relevance to life in the local area and the UK today

2. Skills

- Developing relationships with peers and with people of different generations
- Learning to learn in social and informal ways
- Becoming more self-aware about their own learning, developing more sophisticated skills of ethical and critical thinking
- Learning to use digital equipment
- Learning to create and use web-based resources
- Develop specific subject-related skills through learning opportunities, e.g. map skills and source analysis

3. Values, Attitudes and Feelings

- A greater motivation to learn about the past and its relevance to the present and future
- A fuller appreciation of themselves – of their achievements and their relationship and own identity with their communities
- A deeper sense of understanding for people of different ages, races, religious experiences and backgrounds to themselves

4. Creativity, Inspiration and Enjoyment

- Making lateral connections between own lives & experiences and those of others
- Learning to express themselves in different, creative and enjoyable ways

5. Behaviour and Progression

- Working collaboratively with others as part of a team
- Behaving with more confidence and awareness
- Increased and proactive engagement with, and participation in, learning, community or civic activity to record, publish and make educational use of local, regional, national and international historical sources and archives