

Building Information Modelling – what is it really?

A conference organised by BSRIA and the RIBA, supported by Autodesk and featuring a range of CAD and BIM vendors.

In partnership with the Knowledge Transfer Networks for the Creative Industries and the Modern Built Environment (MBEKTN and CITIN), buildingSMART and the Construction Project Information Committee (CPIC)

Friday 26 June 2009, Jarvis Hall, RIBA, 66 Portland Place, London W1B 1AD

The conference will help delegates understand what BIM is, explain how others have benefitted from using BIM, whether in little or big ways, and encourage them to explore the possibility of using BIM.

9.00 Registration

9.30 Welcome

Richard Hastilow, Chief Executive, Royal Institute of British Architects

9.35 Introduction

Chair: Mark Bew, Group Business Systems Director, Scott Wilson and Chair, buildingSMART UK

9.40 Keynote

Richard Saxon CBE, Principal, Consultancy for the Built Environment, “Big BIM, Little BIM”

10.00 Session 1: What does BIM mean to me?

Nick Willson, Willson & Bell
Simon Rawlinson, Davis Langdon
Alvise Simondetti, Arup

10.30 Commercial break – CPIC

Sarah Delany, CPIC

10.35 Session 1 (continued)

Ray Crotty, C3 Systems
John Tebbit, Construction Products Association
Questions and discussion

- 11.10 Commercial break – Design and decision tools research call
Dr Kerrie Mashford, Technology Strategy Board
- 11.15 Coffee
- 11.40 Commercial break – data issues
John Gelder, RIBA Enterprises
Joe Martin, BCIS
- 11.50 Session 2: What has BIM done for me?
David Throssell, Skanska
Chris Hindle, AECOM
Garyth Turner, Zisman Bowyer & Partners
Jeff Stephens, VINCI Construction UK
David Sibbitt, ASDA
Questions and discussion
- 13.00 Lunch
- 13.45 Commercial break – RIBA Knowledge Communities
Keith Snook, Royal Institute of British Architects
- 13.50 Session 3: What will BIM do for me?
A round table discussion considering BIM in a recession and the sustainability benefits of using BIM. Participants will include all our speakers from session 1 and a panel of vendors.
Chair: Martin Ong
Andrew Bellerby, Tekla
Paul Fleming, Autodesk
Paul King, Bentley
Tony Ryan, Asite
Yehuda Sinai, Ansys
- 14.40 Sum-up
Mark Bew
- 14.45 Close
Andrew Eastwell, Chief Executive, BSRIA

Tea and depart

Ticket prices:
BSRIA or RIBA Members
 £60.00 + VAT
Non-members
 £95.00 + VAT
Students
 £20.00 + VAT

Booking and queries:
Book online
 or contact Kathie Bull at BSRIA:
 Telephone: 01344 465532
 Email: kathie.bull@bsria.co.uk
Venue
Map

